REST VS. MANURE FOR OUR LAND.

A correspondent says: Through the best farming sections of our country farmers are keeping their lands almost continually under tillage and crops, as though they supposed that the only way to obtain any profit from them. And now they are being put to their wits' ends to know how to keep up the fertility of these lands. They will, of course, use all the manure they can get, but that is only a limited amount, so they will next buy some commercial fertilizer to stimulate their lands to keep on growing tilled crops, as though to abandon them would be to abandon farming. Now the best thing that can be done for most of these lands is to give them rest, and while resting from such crops as they had previously been growing, they might return a fair income as meadow or pasture lands if properly seeded down; and to lie in turf for a year or two is such a rest and change from continual tillage that when plowed again such land is found to be in about the best condition Gospel. for any crop, though to spread a good coat of manure on this turf the fall before plowing would be still better. Such a fresh-broken turf is called in England "new ground" and it seems to renew the life and fertilify of the soil to rest under a clean turf for a time. In a rotation of crops, land will find partial rest by growing a different kind of crop each year of should improve his land is almost the course. But if the plan of rotation requires one or two years' lying to clover or grass, so much the better. If a three years' course be adopted, have for the first year a hoed crop, the next grain, and seed to clover or timothy. Or for a five years' course, the first year states that the night before the plant corn or potatoes, next year freeze in April last he hung several lst, $44; Nov. 1st, $50. Cotton Optionbarley or oats, third year wheat or pieces of old iron in ten of his rve, and seed to clover and grass, fourth year mow, and fifth year pasture. This course will give ing not less than 75 bushels. The very fair rest for the land, for, fruit of the remaining trees (sixtythough it is contrary to philosophy five in number) in the orchard orders. For particulars apply to and theory, we find in practice that our cultivated lands improve while seeded down for a year or two, though we even cut two crops of clover in a year and take off from He says the idea originated with the ground. A neighbor has for his mother, and that he by her vears carried on two systems of instructions when a boy tried the rotation on his farm, by which he same thing frequently, and with is almost assured of good crops the same result. This is imporand a good fair income, with a com- tant, if true, and it will cost but paratively light expense of labor, and his land apparently growing richer year after year. He adopts the five years' course described above for fields near the barn. But for those lying too far off to draw the manure upon readily, he has a three years' course-two years to clover and one to wheat, and he says that for a number of years his crops from this have been over thirty bushels of wheat to an acre, except the last, which was twentyeight bushels. On a field by the side of this, on another farm, of equally good soil naturally, tilled and cropped in the usual way, the average for the same years has only been about fifteen bushels of wheat per acre every other year, and the land growing no better. This shows that it will barely pay this farmer to grow his fifteen bushels to the acre; the other farmer, with his thirty bushels, would have fifteen bushels as clear profit, or income, and for the year it is lying to clover it is sure to pay as pasture or mow-clusively to grain.

I have also seen a greatimprovement of land by its resting in a field so overrun with quack grass that no one wanted to undertake to till it, so it had leave to lie two or three years to grass, which was mowed yearly; but when this was plowed, planted, and tilled so thoroughly as to subdue the quack, it evidently richer and in a higher for years before. Now, if farming will pay better by having our lands not exceed three million dollars. richer, and if we can make them richer by giving them more rest in lying well seeded to grass or clover, and thus having more manure to
